

ASSET4 Carbon Data & Estimates

In order to provide investors with as much information as possible, ASSET4 has developed three approaches to estimate the total CO<sub>2</sub> emissions when that value has not been reported yet or when a company does not report the value at all.

From the graph below you can see that there has been a significant increase in the levels of reporting of total CO<sub>2</sub> emissions. However, the reporting levels are no where near complete and in addition there is often a significant delay in reporting, which is why it is so important to have access to transparent estimates to create the most up-to-date picture of corporate performance and risk.
